Candidates Speak Out on Health Care: A Public Forum
Featuring John Ewing and Lee Terry, Candidates for U.S. Congress

The rising costs and difficulty of accessing health care because of the lack of coverage and regional shortages of health professionals and institutions are major concerns of the American public. A large majority of Americans has long believed that all Americans should have access to affordable, high quality health care. Both 2012 U.S. Congress candidates from Nebraska have recognized this and made health care a policy priority. This public forum offers the general public and health professionals opportunity to:

- Discuss each candidate’s view of the Affordable Health Care Act
- Compare each candidate’s plan for improving American health care
- Understand the challenges and opportunities in the current health care system

Wednesday, October 17, 2012
Moderator: Rowen Zetterman, M.D., Dean, School of Medicine, Creighton University
Mike and Josie Harper Center Hixson-Lied Auditorium
602 North 20th Street
Creighton University campus

Each candidate will speak for about 30 minutes followed by Q&A
5:00 - 6:00 pm ~ Registration and light refreshments
6:00 - 7:30 pm ~ Public Health Forum, Reception to follow

For more information call Creighton University Health Sciences
Continuing Education at 402.280.1830