Creighton Women’s Health Center provides women access to health care across the continuum with our highly respected team of generalists and specialists. Our department provides ambulatory services for the health care of females including routine annual exams, pregnancy care or gynecology care.

The maternal-fetal medicine team utilizes state-of-the-art technology, including 4-D ultrasonography, to diagnose and treat women with high-risk pregnancies. Diagnostic ultrasound, non-stress testing and high-risk obstetrics’ consultations are available on a daily basis by the Division of Maternal-Fetal Medicine at Creighton University Medical Center and Lakeside One Professional Center.
