Faculty Development Offered Next Week:

Generational Differences: Implications for Teachers and Learners
International Association of Medical Science Educators Web Seminar
Presenter: Paul McLeod, M.D.
Date: Wednesday, April 23
Time: 11:00 a.m. to Noon (note new time for the spring series)
Location: Medical Education Conference Room, 455 Criss III
Lunch provided – RSVP to catepogge@creighton.edu

Session Description: The topic “generational differences” has received the interest of medical educators throughout the continuum of medical education. As many as four generational groups may be simultaneously present in medical education settings (e.g., Grand Rounds). This session will increase our understanding of the values and behaviors of different generational groups that have implications for teachers and learners during the educational process. Understanding of generational differences can help establish common ground on which to build a foundation for positive relationships not only between teachers and learners but also among colleagues.

NOTE: This web seminar will be available online at a later date, and, when there is interest in the topic, IAMSE web seminars will be presented again at the CUMC.

Upcoming Programs and Events:

New Tools for Teaching the Next Generation
International Association of Medical Science Educators Web Seminar
Presenter: Sharon Dennis, M.S.
Date: Wednesday, April 30
Time: 11:00 a.m. to Noon (note new time for the spring series)
Location: Medical Education Conference Room, 455 Criss III
Lunch provided – RSVP to catepogge@creighton.edu

Session Description: New "Web 2.0" technologies are being used by students today for communication and collaboration. What are these new technologies, and how can educators use them in a classroom setting? This session will introduce participants to the three important Web 2.0 technologies: wikis, blogs, and social networking. Learn how easy it is to use these technologies with free online services.

Medical Education Meetings and Conferences:

The 28th Conference of The Generalists in Medical Education will be held October 31-November 1, 2008 at the Hyatt Regency Hotel at the Riverwalk in San Antonio. This conference precedes the Annual Meeting of the Association of American Medical Colleges. Proposals must be received by May 4th. The Call for Proposals is available at:
Announcement:

Please consider participating in the 2008 Summer Initiative for Teaching Excellence (SITE) in the Health Sciences, a three-day, intensive workshop to improve teaching, assessment, and educational scholarship. The SITE program dates are June 9-11. All SITE program sessions occur on campus and there is no registration fee. A copy of the brochure and application are attached. Please contact me if you have questions about the program or application process. The application deadline is April 25.

Resource of the Month:

For an excellent summary of principles of adult learning and examples of applications for teaching, read “Education Techniques for Lifelong Learning: Principles of Adult Learning” by Jannette Collins, M.D., M.Ed.

This article is available to all CU faculty members via the Health Sciences Library: http://radiographics.rsna.org/cgi/reprint/24/5/1483

If you have trouble accessing the document, try pasting the entire URL (address) into your Web browser’s navigation box.