Policy: Visa Policy

PURPOSE

The purpose of this policy is to ensure that all non-citizens applying to residency and fellowship programs at Creighton University have a valid visa or employment status.

SCOPE

This policy applies to all Accreditation Council for Graduate Medical Education (ACGME)-accredited residency and fellowship program residents and fellows.

DEFINITIONS

Resident: Any physician in an accredited graduate medical education program, including interns, residents, and fellows.

POLICY

All non-citizens applying to residency and fellowship programs at Creighton University, in addition to meeting eligibility requirements, must either have Permanent Resident Status, an Employment Authorization Card or be eligible to obtain employment visa J-1 or J-2 with EAD card through the Exchange Visitor Program in coordination with the Creighton University Graduate Medical Education Office.

Foreign national Creighton residents cannot begin employment at Creighton University or its partner employers until they have a valid visa status or employment status. Foreign national Creighton University residents who lose legal visa status may be dismissed from the training program. Any Creighton University resident with a visa must notify the Office of Education in writing immediately of any notice to take action, or intent to take action, related to their visa.

Creighton University does not sponsor H-1B visa for residency or fellowship programs. These rules only apply to ACGME programs. Creighton University cannot sponsor J-1 visa for a non ACGME accredited program. In cases of extreme hardship for current residents and fellows enrolled in aCreighton accredited program, the DIO has the discretion to consider sponsoring another type of visa.

Sponsored Visa Category

J-1 Visa

The J-1 visa is a temporary nonimmigrant visa reserved for participants in the Exchange Visitor Program. As a public diplomacy initiative of the U.S. Department of State, the Exchange Visitor Program was established to enhance international exchange and mutual understanding between the people of the United States and other nations. In keeping with the Program's goals for international education, J-1 exchange visitor physicians are required to return home for at least two years following their training before being eligibility for certain U.S. visas. A resident or fellow may be in the United States in J-1 status for a maximum of seven years.

1. The Educational Commission for Foreign Medical Graduates (ECFMG) is authorized by the U.S. Department of State (DOS) to sponsor foreign national physicians as Exchange Visitors in accredited programs of graduate medical education or training or advanced research programs (involving primarily observation, consultation, teaching or research). Exchange Visitors sponsored by ECFMG receive a Certificate of Eligibility for Exchange Visitor (J-1 visa) Status (Form DS-2019). This document is used to apply for the J-1 visa.

2. Foreign national physicians seeking J-1 sponsorship to enroll in programs of graduate medical education (GME) or training in the United States must fulfill a number of general requirements, which are detailed in the application materials. At a minimum, applicants must:
   a) Have passed Step 1 and Step 2 Clinical Knowledge (CK) of the United States Medical Licensing Examination™ (USMLE™)
   b) Hold a valid Standard ECFMG Certificate at commencement of training;
   c) Hold a contract or an official letter of offer for a position in a program of graduate medical education or training that is affiliated with a medical school;
   d) Provide a Statement of Need from the Ministry of Health of the country of most recent legal permanent residence, regardless of country of citizenship. This statement provides written assurance that the country needs physicians trained in the proposed specialty and/or subspecialty. It also serves to confirm the applicant physician's commitment to return to that country upon completion of training in the United States, as required by Section 212(e) of the Immigration and Nationality Act, as amended. The J-1 visa applicant is responsible for all fees and expenses associated with applying for and obtaining the J-1 visa.

J-2 Visa
Any residents/fellows training on a J-2 visa are required to obtain an EAD card on an annual basis. Renewal can take up to six (6) months processing time. The J-2 spouse is responsible for ensuring that the J-1 spouse applies for J-1 visa renewal annually and allows enough time for EAD card renewal for the J-2 spouse. The J-2 spouse must also inform the program director of any changes to the J-1 spouse’s visa sponsorship, as the J-2 sponsorship is directly linked to J-1 sponsorship.
